PUPPY PARVOVIRUS EXPOSURE ADDENDUM TO ADOPTION AGREEMENT

_____ I understand that the puppy I am adopting from IMPS has been in a home that had parvovirus exposure within the last 6 months. The risks associated with potential contamination or spreading of the virus to the adopters personal dogs is being assumed by the adopter. Any adopted puppy that has been exposed should follow strict quarantine rules in the adoptive home for a minimum of 2 months post adoption as recommended by IMPS. It is also strongly recommended the adopter seek professional advice from the vet that will be caring for the adoptive dog for any additional recommendations on its care.

The list of vaccinations below is also required as part of the adoption contract unless indicated that they have been administered by the rescue:

_____ Dhpp given at week 7

_____ Dhpp given at week 10

_____ Dhpp given at week 12-13 (per vets preference)

_____ Rabies given at week 16 (some vets may recommend an additional Dhpp booster as well)

Thank you for understanding that the parvovirus is a highly transferable, difficult to kill virus that is potentially fatal to dog with compromised immune systems or under developed immune systems, such as, seniors and puppies. Please protect your dog's life with core vaccinations!
